Market Drop Psychological Set back

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The plunge of the stock market has been called a crisis in investor confidence. The drop of the Dow-Jones Industrial average below the 800 mark could be a psychological setback. That's because stock market watchers — whether shareowners or not — put faith in these neat round numbers.

It does little good to tell the general public that Monday's drop of 12.59 points in the index of 30 leading industrial stocks is not an average drop of $12.59 per share by any means, but less than $1.25. Nor will the public turn to other indexes tailored to come closer to actual dollar values in recording upswings and downturns.

What the public notes is that just six months ago the Dow industrial was pushing close to a fantastic figure of 1,000 and has now dropped more than 200 points — somewhat mysteriously, since business statistics continue to climb. The long flirtation of the Dow industrials with the 800 mark — first on the up-tick in the earlier years, and now on the downswing — captured public fancy.

It was Feb. 28, 1964, that the Dow industrial index finally closed above the 800 mark for the first time, after repeated near-misses. And from then until this spring the bulls had things pretty much their way with the Dow going to 995.15 on Feb. 9 this year. But they couldn't push the Dow to the mystic 1,000 point, despite general public expectation. And the bears have finally shoved it below 800.

What the public will note about the behavior of the Dow industrial average Monday was that the 12.59 point plunge wasn't just a tilt caused by one or two weak sisters. Of the 30 stocks on the index, 20 hit new low prices for the year. And the other 10 were well below their record highs.

How the small investor and the general public reacts will be watched closely.

The market professionals also watch the Dow's performance, but with a difference. Many are now saying that technically the market seems oversold. And the big drop, along with heavier trading, may be setting a base from which at least a temporary recovery can be expected.

Investor confidence has been shaken since spring by the many uncertainties clouding the future trend of the economy. But of late the big bearish element has been tight money. This has pinched the home building industry, may have contributed to the drop in auto sales, and clouds prospects for future corporate profits.

With interest rates at the highest point in 40 years, investors are turning to opportunities offering bigger returns with less risk than do most common stocks. And the difficulties investors have in guessing the course of the Viet Nam war makes stock buying less attractive.

The upward surge in labor's wage demands casts a shadow on the future of corporate profit margins. The fear of tax increases on corporate earnings after the election adds to the bears' array of talking points.

And now there's the new dramatization of the market dropping below the 800 mark, after its disappointing inability to reach 1,000.

Wall Street will be glad when the summer's over.

L. A. Mayor Taken to Task by Kennedy

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Samuel W. Yorty was reported confident today Los Angeles could win a share in a potentially vast federal aid proposal, despite Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff's charge that the city government is ill-equipped for its tasks.

That word came from Robert Goe, executive assistant to the mayor. "We can work it out," he said.

Yorty was not available for comment.

The program is President Johnson's Demonstration Cities plan, approved in a reduced form by the Senate but awaiting House action. With a first-in-stallment price tag of $900 million, it is designed to rebuild — socially, economically and physically — entire slum sections of some cities.

Goe, who also is director of the Los Angeles Office of Community Development, told a STILL ON THE WEDDING CIRCUIT, newlyweds Luci and Pat Nugent were on hand for the marriage of Patsy Derby, a distant relative of Luci's, at the Georgetown Presbyterian Church in Washington Aug. 21. It was the second stint as a bridesmaid in two days for Luci, who took part in the wedding of one of her own bridesmaids in Austin, Tex., the day before.

porter the city has men at work now on a proposal for Demonstration Cities aid.

He said Yorty believes that despite problems of government jurisdiction, which produced stormy debate and harsh criticism at a Senate hearing Tuesday, Los Angeles could set up an effective demonstration program.

"Obviously we're interested," he said.

The Democratic mayor engaged in hot exchanges with two Democratic senators — Ribicoff of Connecticut and Robert F. Kennedy of New York — during Tuesday's session. Ribicoff is chairman of the Senate Government Operations subcommittee which is looking into city problems and the federal role in urban affairs.

At one point, Ribicoff told Yorty: "Los Angeles brags all over the country about how big and rich you are, what you stand for. I would say that the City of Los Angeles right now from what you've said doesn't stand for a damn thing."

Yorty replied: "We're a great city."

At another point, Kennedy said while Yorty might not have responsibility for some things in his city "you are the mayor and it seems to me we could expect some leadership from you."

Yorty retorted, "I don't need any lectures from you."

Ribicoff told Yorty he had waived to county, regional or state agencies responsibility for Los Angeles programs dealing with welfare, transportation, education, health and housing. Those would be key elements of a Demonstration Cities project.

At the hearing, Yorty assented. But Goe said the mayor is in charge of urban redevelopment and the city is pushing ahead in that field.

Ribicoff's subcommittee hears today from Mayor John Reading of Oakland, Calif.

Auto Workers Rap Action of Big Three

DETROIT (AP) — Skilled United Auto Workers demonstrate today at Chrysler Corp. headquarters to protest refusal of the Big Three car makers to reopen labor contracts.

The tradesmen, rejected Monday in their bid to reopen contracts to negotiate their demands for a 50-cent hourly pay raise, planned to march for four hours at the Chrysler offices.

Joe Zapha, an officer of the UAW's Chrysler Local 212, said representatives of skilled workers in 22 Detroit-area locals of the UAW called for the demonstration.

Only off-duty employees were being asked to participate, he said, but it was expected some skilled tradesmen might not go to work in order to participate in the demonstration.

Chrysler, General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. declined Monday to discuss re-opening of skilled trades wages in their contracts with the UAW. The pacts will expire Sept. 6, 1967.

One concern among industry officials about any reopening of the contract was that unskilled and semiskilled production workers might also call for renegotiation of present contract wages.

There are nearly 100,000 skilled workers and 600,000 other production workers in the Big Three.

Plans for the demonstration were formed by the $1 an Hour Now Steering Committee, comprised of UAW skilled

Have to Wait on Picture of the Earth

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — At the age of about 4½ billion years, Mother Earth has been the subject of a photograph—but she'll have to wait a while to see if its a good likeness and even whether the photo was taken.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration commanded Lunar Orbiter to snap the photograph Tuesday as it circled the moon 240,000 miles from earth. The command called for the photo to be stored on tape in the 850-pound spacecraft. It will be transmitted Thursday to the deep space receiving station at Goldstone, Calif.

The officials hope the photo will provide information on the earth's terminator — the line dividing the shadowed and sunlit portions of the planet.

They believe it will show a gradual shading from light to dark, rather than a well defined line as is evident on the moon, because of the diffusion of sunlight by the earth's atmosphere.

There is some question, however, whether Lunar Orbiter's camera actually snapped the picture. Space agency officials re-emphasized Tuesday night that the orbiting photographic laboratory, a success in other respects, has taken poor photographs with its high-resolution lens.

While photographs taken with a lens that shows greater areas — with less detail — have been clear, the closeups taken by the high-resolution lens have been blurred. They have failed to show the surface details necessary to select landing sites on the moon for American astronauts, the NASA officials said.

The trouble in essence has been that the film has moved while the shutter was opening and closing.

Lunar Orbiter's mission, however, is continuing on schedule and today, on its 21st orbit, it was to snap photographs of another possible landing site for the Apollo astronauts. It is in an orbit that brings it as close as 33 miles from the lunar surface and as far as 1,153 miles.

Weir Behind in Recount

LAKE VILLAGE, Ark. (AP) — James Weir of Dermott still came out second best in the race for Democratic nomination for Chicot County judge, a recount showed Tuesday.

James Burchfield beat Weir 2,323-2,459 in the Aug. 9 runoff, and the recount cost Weir $120 and one vote. One ballot was disqualified.

Weir fought a well publicized but unsuccessful battle to retain his farm holdings after he refused to pay penalties assessed by the federal government for overplanting his crop allotment.

Russia Jails Members of Baptist Sect

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has sentenced six members of a Baptist sect to prison terms of unspecified length on charges of "antisocial activities" and influencing children's minds with books containing "nonsensical notions on reality."

The newspaper Teacher's Gazette said Tuesday that the trial took place in Rostov-on-Don but did not say when.

According to the paper, the sect organized a street demonstration last May 2 and disrupted public order not only by the demonstration but by baptizing 40 young persons in the Don River. One of those baptized was a girl member of the Young Communists' League.

The paper said she and another girl "behaved bitterly and fanatically in court" during the trial.

The sect leaders set up an illegal Sunday School "in which illiterate and fanatical teachers taught 'God's word' to children 8 to 11 years old, and persistently and systematically accustomed them to a religious outlook," the Gazette said.

The May 2 baptism came on a Monday immediately after May Day which happened to fall on a Sunday this year. The indictment charged the sect with holding meetings that conflicted with official Soviet holidays — all of which come on Sundays except for May Day and the Nov. 7 anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The Baptist sect was accused of influencing young minds through books that contained "nonsensical notions on reality, a disbelief in everything noble and good—they convince believers that there is no happiness on earth and never can be."

One defendant was described as engineer P. D. Belenky who gave Baptist lectures while on business trips. Three others were listed as Zhovmiruk, Bogovya and Verisov. Two were unidentified.

The paper did not say whether there was any connection between this Baptist sect and another one at Mtsensk, near Orel, denounced last May 22.

The Rev. Alexander Karev, general secretary of the Baptist Union in the Soviet Union, said the one based in Mtsensk was small and fanatical and regular Baptists disapproved of it.

The Russian, with more than 500,000 members, is the second largest Baptist community in the world after the United States.

Many Baptists at the American Embassy have attended services at the Moscow Baptist church and sung in the choir.

No Millage in Special Vote

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said Tuesday millage rates could not be included in a special election called to let voters decide whether to consolidate two or more school districts.

He told Granger Williams, chairman of the Pulaski County School Study Commission, that the State Supreme Court has held that a constitutional amendment permits the determining of fiscal affairs only in annual school elections.

Thus, if voters approved a school consolidation plan in a special election, the reorganized district's millage rate apparently would have to be submitted to voters in the next annual school election.

New Head of Spa Schools

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Dr. J. Harvey Walthall Jr. was named Tuesday night to be Hot Springs school superintendent, succeeding Hugh L. Mills, who has resigned effective next Wednesday.

Mills will become director of general extension at the University of Arkansas.

Walthall, who has been in the Little Rock school system since 1951, leaves the Little Rock post of assistant superintendent for personnel and research. He obtained a three-year contract.

Purge Centers on Educators

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China said today the "main targets" of its nationwide purge are straying party and educational leaders. It did not identify them.

The latest warning that more high-ranking Communists may soon fall into disgrace came in the theoretical journal Red Flag, edited by Mao Tse-tung's spokesman Chen Po-ta.

The New China News Agency, which distributed a summary of the article, omitted a paragraph which said, "No matter who that person is and whether he is in a government position, no matter how high, and has a long career and great reputation, we will fight until he is thrown out from his job if he does not follow Mao's ideas and opposes Mao's thought."

Royal Couple Makes A Splash

PORTO CERVO, Sardinia (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco and her husband, Prince Ranier, fell into the sea Sunday off Porto Cervo while watching a boat race from a small sailboat.

The American-born princess and the prince were toppled into the water when a sudden gust of wind caught their sail and sharply tipped the craft.

Laughing and splashing, they swam to another boat, climbed aboard and continued watching the race.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. WAYNE OTTO JEFFERSON, JR.

In the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church Saturday, August 20 at 2 p. m. Miss Bonnie Fay Wassell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett E. Wassell, Sr. 1300 James Street, became the bride of Captain Wayne Otto Jefferson, Jr.,

The Rev. Robert B. Moore, Jr. officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladiolus and greenery. Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, organist, played a program of pre-nuptial music and accompanied Miss Gayle Williams, vocal soloist, when she sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a nylon organza gown with a fitted bodice of Alencon lace and elbow-length sleeves. An attached chapel train swept softly from her waistline. The bride's bouquet was of white stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Miss Carolyn Seale, Las Cruces N. M., was the maid of honor, and Miss Mary E.

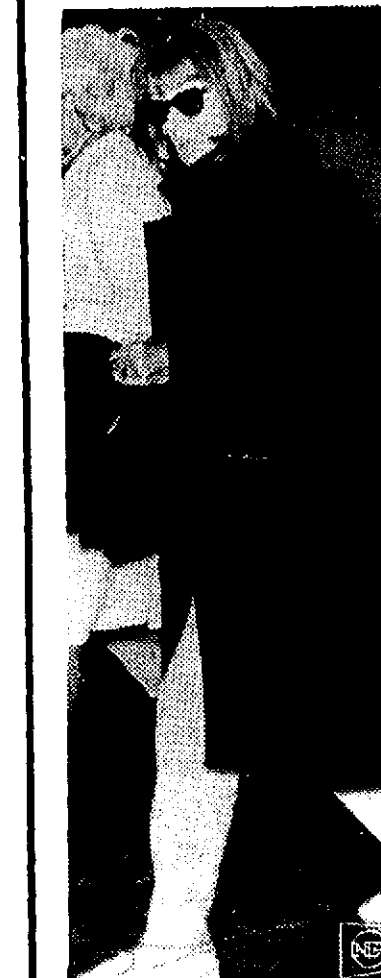

All That Work for Nothing

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Jimmy Kasler, 13, delivered newspapers, washed cars and caddied to replace his bicycle stolen in June.

Last week, he gathered his earnings and bought a fancy, gold-color, five-speed, two-wheeler — and the best lock he could find.

He left the bike unattended — and unlocked — a few minutes Tuesday while he shopped near his home. When he returned it was gone.

Kasler is the son of Air Force Maj. James H. Kasler, coleader of the initial air raids on the Hanoi-Haiphong oil complex who later was shot down and captured by the North Vietnamese.

STILL PUBLICITY-SHY, screen great Greta Garbo glances furtively at a lurking cameraman before scuttling into the Athens Museum during a visit to Greece. The elusive actress, now 60, has been rarely photographed in recent years.

Television and Radio

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kathy Nolan, once of the "Real McCoy" clan, was receiving the attention of the "Bewitched" make-up man at a repair station near the working set.

"I'm a guest witch," she announced to the visitor who was carefully stepping over cables and dodging props en route to visit Dick York, the young man who plays the merely mortal husband of the beguiling sorceress in the ABC hit.

York, sporting a realistic colodion scar on his right cheek and nursing an all-too-real toothache, was in his undershirt, cooling off from a morning spent in medieval knight's armor under the hot camera lights.

"Bewitched" is about to start its third season as a hit property and York, as the long-suffering Darrin, was involved in an episode that sent him back centuries in time.

"Seems to me that our witch population is increasing," he said. "In one show we finished recently, I and my boss, Larry Toge, were the only humans in the whole show."

York, a tall, pleasant fellow, has the looks and acting skills that usually get him cast as an ordinary person, so much so that his real contribution is easy to overlook.

But while the flashy pyrotechnics of the witches played by Elizabeth Montgomery and Agnes Moorehead attract the attention, York's down-to-earth character is the solid wall against which the whole magic game is played.

"I think the show has gone well because of the personal relationships developed," he said, touching his cheek gingerly. "It just happens that the girl is a witch, and my basic attitude is 'so what?' As long as her husband can live with it, and the neighbors don't know she's different and she takes good care of the children, who cares?"

York said he thought that a real-life counterpart to being married to a witch is a wife "who is very successful at some career, like a theatrical star, and who makes more money than her husband."

"That wouldn't be a real problem as long as the career was not more important to her than the marriage," he continued.

A sea robin is not a bird. It is a fish.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bittel

WOMAN'S PLACE NOT ON GOLF COURSE, HE SAYS

Dear Helen: Can't you dames leave us any place where we can get away from you? Pool halls used to be strictly for the boys. Now they're "billiards," and dames are welcome.

Bars were once for men only, with "tables for ladies" off in another room. Now the gals crowd the men out on Friday nights, when the eager little secretaries stop in to pick up dates for the weekend.

They've taken over every sport from scuba and sky-diving to sports car rallies, but they're at their worst on the golf course. This is where their basic meanness shows.

They don't play for the fun and exercise. They play to win, and they'll cheat you blind to do it. They talk when they should be quiet, and keep quiet when they should count those extra strokes. They make the party in front of them uneasy by their crowding, and, if they're slow, they won't let you go through — because it will "show up their game".

The other day a woman bawled the heck out of us because we were sitting down and waiting for the green to clear. They have no courtesy, but they figure men should back down, just because they are female.

Women can't enjoy sports because they take it personally if they lose. Why don't you gals go back to your knitting?

Women are all right in their place. Too bad they don't know it. — Wanting A Man's World

Dear Helen: I have a baby boy. The father is married and has two other children. We lived together eight months, until the baby was two months old. Then he sent me home to my parents so he could leave the state and save money to get a divorce. That was four months ago.

In his last letter he said he was coming back, but without the divorce. I have talked to his wife. She says she wants the divorce, but he never seems to do anything about it. She says this isn't the first time he has started to get one and didn't.

My problem is: Shall I go back to him? He doesn't have much money because he has to support his first family. But, on the other hand, my parents are ashamed of me and the baby. They even ask me not to appear when they have company. It's miserable living at home. I'm not a child, but a school drop-out. I can't get a job, so I can't leave. I love this man, but I know when things get rough he'll leave me again. Looks like I'm a loser any way I turn. — Mildred

Dear Mildred: State employment agencies have training programs for people like you. Surely your parents will baby-sit temporarily until you learn some sort of trade.

Once you have a job, you can be your own boss. But you'll never make it if you call yourself a "loser" — or sit and wait for an unpredictable non-husband. — H.

Dear Helen: I wish you wouldn't advise the kids to learn polse by using the telephone. Around our house the only time I can get near the phone is on Wednesdays and Thursdays, during Batman. With summer re-runs, even this has dried up. It used to be if the phone would ring at that time, I'd know it was for the old folks. Don't make it any worse Helen! — Ma

Dear Ma: Sorry about that. — H.

Dear Helen: A suggestion to the mother whose 18-year-old son wants nothing but marriage: Go along with his plans, be terribly helpful — such as in planning his budgets, pointing out prices and costs, etc. Then take him on a weekend trip to visit in an apartment house full of young couples with multiple children. He'll soon talk himself out of the ideal Ours. — M.O.F.

McDowell, Chance Look Good Again

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dean Chance and Sam McDowell spent the last two months in something of a pitcher's limbo. Two of the top hurlers in the American League, they had managed three victories between them.

Then, just as suddenly as they faded away, the two pitchers reversed field and now they look like themselves again. James Bond might even have trouble with this mystery.

McDowell signaled the end of the dry spell with a three-hit shutout against Chicago last Friday. Then the Cleveland left-hander came back with a 2-1 six-hitter against American League-leading Baltimore Tuesday night.

Not to be outdone, Chance fired a three-hitter as California shaded New York 1-0.

Rocky Colavito's 28th home run proved to be the winning run for McDowell, who had the Orioles shut out until the eighth inning.

"I'm slowly getting my control back," said McDowell, who suffered with arm trouble after winning four games before the season was a month old. "I'm slowly getting my control back, but my coordination's still off."

Chance, 9-15, managed to smile through his trouble. "I'll be a candidate for Comeback of the Year," the Angel right-hander said, "next year."

Meanwhile, Jim Kaat, who has flourished despite the demise of the defending champion Minnesota Twins, won his 19th with a five-hitter against Washington, beating the Senators 7-0 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader. Washington won the nightcap 4-3.

Elsewhere, Chicago edged Detroit 2-1 in 12 innings with Gary Peters going all the way and Kansas City's doubleheader at Boston was postponed by rain.

In the National League, Philadelphia nipped Pittsburgh 5-1. St. Louis blanked Houston 3-0. San Francisco whipped Cincinnati 7-3. Los Angeles defeated Atlanta 8-7 and New York downed Chicago 4-1.

McDowell struck out 10 and hurled his sixth complete game. His first five route-going efforts were all shutouts. He had the Orioles blanked until Frank Robinson's two-out single delivered a run in the eighth.

Rich Rollins' grand-slam homer gave Kaat an early cushion against the Senators and the Minnesota left-hander coasted to the victory. It pushed his record to 19-9.

Willie Kirkland's pinch homer, leading off in the bottom of the eighth, gave the Senators the split in the nightcap.

Peters had Detroit shut out 1-0 with two out in the bottom of the ninth but Norm Cash walked the 21st homer, sending the game into extra innings.

The White Sox, who had scored a run without a hit in the fifth inning against Johnny Podres, pushed the winner across in the 12th on pinch hitter Wayne Causey's sacrifice fly.

Brown Helps Marichal Get 18th Victory

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ollie Brown is still 531 home runs behind Willie Mays. It just doesn't seem that much to Juan Marichal today.

Brown, San Francisco's surprise center Tuesday night, walked a three-run homer, propelling surprise starter Marichal to his 18th victory as the Giants whipped Cincinnati 7-3 and regained the National League lead.

Their fourth straight victory, coupled with Pittsburgh's 5-4 loss to Philadelphia, lifted the Giants one game ahead of the Pirates in the tight race.

Brown, a light-hitting rookie with five major league homers to his credit, was shifted to center field when Manager Herman Franks decided to rest Mays, who had smashed his 537th career homer three days ago.

Marichal picked Mays' night off for his own return to action. The Dominican right-hander, troubled recently by a sprained ankle, had not been expected to be ready until Friday. He hurt his left ankle three weeks ago in Chicago and aggravated the injury last Wednesday against St. Louis.

But he told Franks before Tuesday night's game that he was fit and the manager made the switch from his listed starter, Ray Sadecki.

For 3 1/2 innings, the change appeared to be for the worse. Deron Johnson's bases-empty homer in the second and Leo Cardenas' two-run shot in the top of the fourth put Marichal behind 3-2.

Then, in the last of the fourth, Jesus Alou singled across the tying run and Brown, batting seventh in the line-up, sent the Giants ahead to stay with his three-run blast off Milt Pappas.

In Tuesday's other NL action, the third-place Los Angeles Dodgers shaded Atlanta 8-7. St. Louis blanked Houston 3-0 on Bob Gibson's three-hitter and the New York Mets trimmed Chicago 4-1.

California nipped New York 1-0. Cleveland edged Baltimore 2-1. Chicago topped Detroit 2-1 in 12 innings and Minnesota divided a doubleheader with Washington, blanking the Senators 7-0 in the opener before bowing 4-3 in American League play.

The Kansas City-Boston doubleheader was rained out.

Marichal gave up eight hits in boosting his season mark to 18-5. It was his first winning start since July 25.

Bill White's second two-run single of the night snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh, leading the Phillies past Pittsburgh. His first hit capped a three-run burst in the first inning and knocked out Pirate starter Vern Law, who failed to retire a batter.

Left-hander Chris Short yielded seven hits, including a three-run homer by Roberto Clemente in the fifth, en route to his 15th victory against seven setbacks.

Willie Davis' two-run single with two out in the ninth climaxed a three-run rally that gave the Dodgers their second squeaker over Atlanta in two nights. Singles by Lou Johnson and Jim Gilliam and an error by second baseman Woody Woodward got the first run home before Davis delivered the winning blow.

Dal Maxvill drove in two St. Louis runs and scored the third, helping Gibson breeze to his 16th victory. The Cardinal right-hander struck out five and scattered singles in the fifth, eighth and ninth innings. Maxvill had four trips to the plate.

Dennis Ribant checked the Cubs on five hits while Cleon Jones, with a two-run homer, and Ron Swoboda, with three singles, led the Mets' attack against Dick Ellsworth, who now has dropped 19 of 24 decisions.

Brizilians Beat Touring Cagers

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Jamie Thompson threw in 35 points and Warren Armstrong added 25, but the touring Wichita State University basketball team was beaten Tuesday night by the powerful Palmeiras club 102-94.

The Sao Paulo team took the lead at the start and the Wheatshockers from the United States never caught up. Wichita trailed at the half 52-42.

Draft Board Lets Clay Leave U.S.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Cassius Clay's draft board says it's all right to leave the country for a little fight next month, but the heavyweight champion has no inkling of whether he'll eventually escape the military draft.

A four-hour hearing on Clay's appeal for an exemption brought the disclosure he's been a minister for two years in the Muslim religion he embraces — "preaching and converting people."

Clay came out of the hearing Tuesday and said it was "just like I was in a courtroom but there was no decision. When there is one, I'll be the first to hear."

The champion's attorney, Hayden Covington, has asked his draft board to reopen the entire case "so Clay can be considered for an exemption as Muslim minister."

The hearing stemmed from Clay's earlier appeal for a draft deferment as a conscientious objector. Special Judge Lawrence Grauman, appointed by the Justice Department to hear the case, will forward his recommendations back to the department.

A recommendation will then be made to Clay's appeal board here.

Clay disclosed Tuesday that the draft board had given him permission to leave the country for his September fight with Karl Mildener in Frankfurt, Germany.

The champion was accompanied to Tuesday's hearing by his parents. He was carrying a copy of the Koran which "we Muslims believe are revelations made to Muhammad by Allah."

Slayer of 6 Appeals to High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Frank Harris, convicted killer of six, awaited word today on whether the nation's top court would help him in his battle for life.

He lost another round in the long legal fight Tuesday when the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis refused to hear his appeal from a U.S. District Court ruling.

His attorneys immediately took the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Harris, 59, has twice come within hours of his scheduled date with the state's electric chair. The latest execution date was July 22, but that was stayed until Aug. 24 by Judge Pat Mehahey to give Harris' attorneys time to get an appeal through the St. Louis court, of which Mehahey is a member.

Although Harris' stay expired today, prison officials said they wouldn't execute Harris without a new order.

Clarence Thornbrough, Gov. Orval Faubus' aide, also pointed out that Faubus must issue another execution proclamation before the execution can take place.

Faubus, in Huntsville with his seriously ill father, Sam Faubus, has not reset an execution date, Thornbrough said.

The governor and the Arkansas Supreme Court have refused to stay the execution, and Harris' attorneys went to the 8th Circuit Court after U.S. District Judge Oren Harris refused to grant a plea for a writ of habeas corpus.

The circuit court noted in rejecting his plea for a hearing that it had examined the full record of the state and federal courts in the Harris case.

His attorneys then asked the U.S. Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari, said Bon McCortney of the Jonesboro law firm handling Harris' case. If the court approves this request, a transcript of the Harris case will be sent to the Supreme Court from the 8th Circuit Court for review.

Harris, onetime employee of a dry cleaning firm, was assigned the death penalty for the slayings of Mrs. Leonard Dever and four of her six children the night of Dec. 21, 1963, at the Dever farm home near Trumann.

Harris shot Dever and his wife to death and the children died in a fire which destroyed the Dever home, the state contends. The state said Harris set the fire.

Harris got a life in prison sentence when convicted in the death of Dever.

In three trials, one of which was overturned by the state Supreme Court, Harris did not testify. He pleaded innocent.

Hays to Teach in University

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Brooks Hays, who finished third in the July 26 Democratic gubernatorial primary, has signed a teaching contract with the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, the school said Tuesday.

Hays, former U.S. congressman from Arkansas, will fill the distinguished professor or practical politics post, which was created by a grant, from Sept. 1 to Feb. 1.

He will continue to hold his position as a visiting professor at Rutgers University in New Jersey.

Nixon Thinks LBJ to Shed Humphrey

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is offering Republican Senate and House candidates a war-and-peace program of supporting President Johnson's Viet Nam course but criticizing his peace efforts.

He meets today with House Republicans.

Nixon got what Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, called enthusiastic approval when he plugged at a closed meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee Tuesday for a proposed Asian peace conference.

Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee who observers believe might make another try in 1968, spelled out his ideas this way:

He is supporting the prosecution of the Viet Nam conflict to the hilt because he thinks "it is the war to prevent World War III." He said he thinks the Communists would bring on World War III if they are not stopped in Asia.

Nixon said he thinks President Johnson is following a "dead-end street" in offering to base peace negotiations on the Geneva accord and thus involve European nations. Instead, Nixon said, the non-Communist nations of Asia ought to draft proposals for a settlement, even if the Communists ignore them at this point.

There was a great deal more about what he called Johnson's failure to sell the war goals to the country. But Nixon's basic advice to GOP candidates was: Support the flag but offer an alternative to Johnson's thus far unsuccessful efforts to get peace negotiations going.

While Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., balked at interpreting the formula in just this way, he said in an interview that Republicans are not going to contribute to any misunderstanding on the part of Hanoi about the lack of national unity Nixon mentioned.

Nixon was optimistic about the chances of regaining Senate and House seats lost in 1964. He said that Democratic divisions over Viet Nam and party rivalry between Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., are helping Republican prospects.

Nixon observed that the polls indicate Kennedy, brother of the late president, may be "the most popular Democrat" at this point. He said he doubts Kennedy could succeed in replacing Johnson as the 1968 Democratic presidential nominee, but he speculated that the President might dump Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Kennedy replied that he didn't need Nixon's advice.

"I have never observed that Mr. Nixon's advice was very helpful to the Republicans, let alone to the Democratic party," he said in a statement. "I only hope my political career will survive Mr. Nixon's endorsement."

Kennedy reiterated that he is supporting Johnson and Humphrey for re-election.

While Nixon was free with his remarks about the Democrats, he wouldn't talk about possibilities for the 1968 Republican ticket.

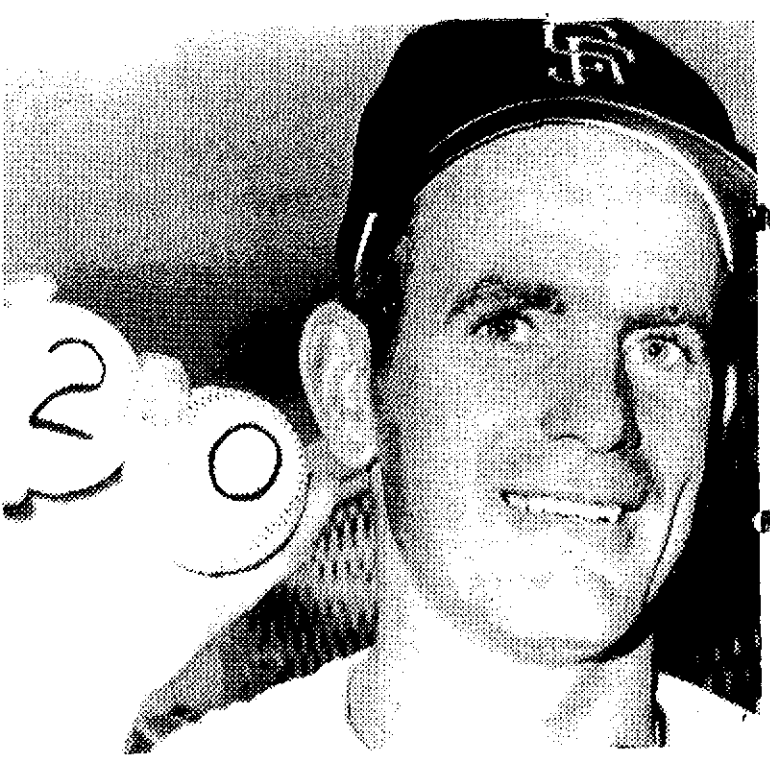

Crossett Phone Expansion

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — The president of Allied Telephone Co. said Tuesday his firm has begun major expansion of telephone service in the Crossett area.

Hugh R. Wilbourn of Little Rock said the expansion will result in an annual payroll of about $100,000 for the area.

Wilbourn said Allied Utilities Corp., a subsidiary of Allied Telephone, planned to install an advanced type of Direct Distance Dialing system, a larger plant investment, new equipment and building additions.

Women Have Discovered Fishing Bug

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
MONTAUK POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Women, bless their little pink bait buckets and their cute ceramic tackle boxes, have discovered fishing.

One of the last remaining bastions of masculine dominance apparently is crumbling before the gentle onslaught of American women, based on the most recent U.S. Department of Interior fishing survey.

Figures show that 27 per cent of the estimated 30 million anglers are women.

With no way of checking on the number of children below the age of 12 who can fish without a license, it means that possibly as many as 8 million of the total number of fishermen are not adult males. The previous figure was 6 million.

The reason for the rapidly climbing rate of female participation is the development of lightweight, easy-to-use equipment, in the opinion of Thomas T. Lenk, president of the Garcia Corp., a tackle manufacturer.

"Through the development of fiber glass rods, the spinning reel and synthetic lines, muscle has given away to technique in successful angling," he continued.

Lenk, who apparently never has seen a coed angler jiggling for bluefish in a bobbing boat while shod in high heels, thinks the fishing industry should copy baseball and have ladies' days.

"Just as baseball has popularized ladies days, I think charter and party boat captains should arrange for midweek fishing trips for women — exclusively," Lenk suggests.

Families of Prisoners Fight Red Tape

EDITOR'S NOTE — The lives of some U.S. fighting men missing or captured in Viet Nam must tangle with red tape and what seems to them bureaucratic indifference. Here's a report on what can happen when a service wife suddenly finds herself in a legal limbo.

By JOHN T. WHEELER
NEW YORK (AP) — Wives of U.S. fighting men missing or captured in Viet Nam say they sometimes must shoulder bewildering burdens because their husbands have become legal nonpersons.

Some of them contend they have been forced to tackle walls of red tape and bureaucratic indifference in carrying the load.

When a man is declared missing or captured, his status falls into a gray legal area, somewhere between alive and dead. He can not act for himself, and his wife or dependents can't act for him, except in special circumstances.

Major complaints reported by text of kin include:

— Problems in making ends meet because money the serviceman had been sending home stops and the pay he was getting is frozen. It can take weeks or months to unfreeze part of it.

— A federal income tax bureau refused to process a joint return unless the wife somehow got the signature of her husband, who had been shot down over North Viet Nam.

— The woman was forced to sell the family car because she couldn't get new license plates without her husband's signature.

Wives and children who are entitled to free medical treatment can't get it sometimes in emergencies because they are not allowed to live on military bases.

— Attorney fees to solve legal problems directly related to a missing man's or POW's status must be borne by the families.

— Only bare-boned, sometimes confusing reports are issued by the Defense Department concerning the fate of lost men. Many doubts are cleared up only after families ask congressmen for help.

A Pentagon spokesman said such problems are "normal things that must be put up with when a man is missing or captured. Anyone with someone missing in action or captured will hit snags."

He said the Pentagon does its best to give families the full details of casualties. Complaints, he said, must be the exception.

Each service maintains a casualty assistance office to help dependents in whatever way possible after their men become casualties, the spokesman said.

He added later, "But don't write anything that will bring a flood of letters or calls. Its not so much that they (the offices) couldn't handle it, but there is no requirement for it. It would create unnecessary problems."

THE DOCTOR SAYS Tension, Worry Hinder Ability to Fall Asleep

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Most of us hate to stop whatever we are doing and go to bed but, when the time comes to get up, we hate that, too. Even more, however, we hate lying in bed and tossing for hours or what seems like hours. We hate it so much we purchase millions of dollars worth of sleeping pills every year. Everyone has trouble getting to sleep at times but not everyone reacts to this occurrence with panic.

The calmer your attitude toward an inability to fall asleep, the less harm your wakefulness will do you. There is a great difference between being deprived of sleep by being awakened every time you start to nod (I believe 11 days is the record for this) and lying in bed and fretting because you haven't gone to sleep as quickly as usual.

The causes of insomnia include high blood pressure, overactivity of the thyroid, an irritable bladder and some types of brain disorder but grief, excitement and worry are the commonest causes. Most people who claim they didn't sleep all night can be shown on close observation to have slept soundly most of the night. Others who say that they can't sleep are really fighting off sleep because they have a subconscious fear of losing consciousness even temporarily.

Before you resort to sleeping pills or alcohol to help you sleep you should consider the fact that, although these drugs can put you into a deep sleep, they are likely to prevent the dreaming we now know accompanies all normal sleep even though in the morning you may have no recollection of having dreamt. Scientists have found that dreaming is the restorative that allows you to wake up refreshed instead of feeling drugged in the morning.

There is an electric sleep inducer that simulates the patter of rain on the roof. This works well for some people but not for others. Another device applies electrodes near Bliss in El Paso, also made relief flights to the Carlsbad, N.M., vicinity.

Deluges estimated at 11 inches since Monday at Dell City and 8 inches in Carlsbad Caverns National Park set off the crop-destroying floods.

While the muddy waters were receding, Weather Bureau observers said there was a 50 per cent chance of thundershowers in at least part of the affected area.

At least one death apparently occurred as the Pecos River went on the rampage at Carlsbad. A search continued today for Joe Little, 45, who was washed off a National Guard truck Monday night while reporting developments for radio station KPBM.

Losses were expected to run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Water six inches to six feet deep covered about 95 per cent of Dell City, an irrigated farming center. Most of its 950 people took shelter in public schools. Some were rescued off rooftops.

Flood evacuees at Carlsbad — about 100 families — were housed in school buildings.

Helicopters went into action after an 85-foot washout on U.S. 61-40 stalled a 21-truck Army convoy 54 miles east of El Paso. One of the trucks finally made it into Dell City late Tuesday night. There was hope others could get through today.

Eighty-four soldiers set up an evacuation headquarters at the washout, which occurred at a point 15 miles south of the New Mexico line.

Water gushing off the Guadalupe and Hueco mountains poured down normally dry arroyos and across salt flats to inflict staggering crop losses in the Dell City vicinity.

Thousands of acres were submerged, including all the croplands from Dell City to the town of Salt Flat, 13 miles south. In addition to destroying crops, the flooding left deep deposits of mud polluted with alkali deposits which could trouble farmers for months.

Farmers normally harvest cotton from about 2,500 acres around Dell City, irrigating from wells. It also is a vegetable center, producing principally tomatoes and bell peppers at this season.

the eyes and behind the ears. A low-voltage current then relaxes your muscles and thereby helps you to sleep. Although few persons realize it, you can train yourself to relax your muscles completely and voluntarily and thereby insure prompt sleep without any outside assistance. In the long run this method is best.

If you want to avoid insomnia it is a great help to insist on regular hours for retiring and arising. This is more important than the number of hours of sleep you think you need.

Famous Film Star Dies at Age of 83

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Francis X. Bushman was a man who earned millions as "King of the Movies," lost them — and his fans — after his family life was discovered, and still was able to say the fun he had was worth every penny.

He was a man who traveled in a gold-plated automobile, let 300 Great Danes romp on a 480-acre estate, then moved in leaner years to a stucco house in the suburbs.

He was a man who once needed 18 secretaries to answer his fan mail, then needed radio work to support himself.

Bushman died Tuesday at 83 as he was pouring a cup of morning coffee. The Los Angeles County coroner's office, in an autopsy report, attributed his death to a "rupture of the heart."

"His passing marks the fall of one of the landmarks of Hollywood history," said Charlton Heston, president of the Screen Actors Guild. Heston starred in the remake of "Ben-Hur," a film Bushman made in 1925.

Bushman's movie career began in Chicago in 1911. It lasted, off and on, until his death. "That he died with a movie role was the beautiful part of his passing," said his widow, Iva, 63. He was to have appeared in his first Western.

He made more than 400 movies, more than any other actor, living or dead.

Bushman's biographers said he earned between $6 million and $10 million at the height of his fame as a rugged leading man. Billboards proclaimed his profile the "handsomest face in the world."

A national poll elected him "King of the Movies" in an era when Charlie Chaplin, William S. Hart and Douglas Fairbanks Sr. were established stars.

His contract stipulated that his marriage be kept secret. When he sued for divorce to marry his leading lady, Beverly Bayne, his fans learned that their romantic idol had five children — and they deserted him by millions for a newcomer named Rudolph Valentino.

Between 1932 and the late '40s he made more than 5,000 radio broadcasts. His generosity — and the 1929 stock market crash — had hurt him, and he needed the money.

He returned to movies in 1943, and broke into television in the '50s. Silver-haired and still handsome, he rewrote some of his early fans when he served on the Mayor's Committee for the Affairs of the Aging.

Planist Hurt in Accident

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pianist Roger Williams has canceled all immediate concert and television appearances following a motorcycle accident in which his right hand was injured.

A doctor for the entertainer said he did not expect the injury to have any permanent effect on Williams' playing. Some stones were extracted from the hand, according to the physician.

A spokesman said Williams' motorcycle was struck by a car Saturday afternoon.

Hubert Visits Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey took a look around the New York Stock Exchange Monday.
He apparently was interested in what he saw because he stayed three hours.
Humphrey's visit was unannounced and described as a personal and unofficial call on Walter Frank, chairman of the exchange, and Keith Funston, its president.
The vice president talked with employees and watched transactions on the exchange floor.

DEADLY FIREWORKS light up the deck of a landing ship, the USS White River, in a dawn assault from the sea on Viet Cong strongholds in South Viet Nam. The back blast of a rocket just ignited flares amid sparks from another rocket fired an instant before.

INFORMATION

Mesmerism, forerunner of modern hypnosis, was founded by Franz Mesmer, Austrian mystic and physician, in 1775. Mesmer believed he had a healing, magnetic power in his hands which could cure hysterical patients. A commission of physicians and scientists was appointed to investigate him as an imposter. The commission, of which Benjamin Franklin was a member, saw little value in his methods. Mesmer lost his practice and retired.

Jim remarks: "Here is a hand that looks ridiculously simple. South has a sound opening no-trump and North an automatic raise to game. If West opens his four card spade suit South is very likely to go down in spite of the partnership total of 28 high card points. However, West opens the five of hearts. East wins with the king and returns the four of spades but this spade lead comes too late to worry South. He is looking at eight top tricks and can add a sure ninth by the simple expedient of knocking out the ace of hearts before he has to give away his second spade control."

Oswald: "It is simple enough in rubber bridge. In match point duplicate South wants to try for an overtrick and it is up to East and West to defend carefully if they want to foil South's plan."

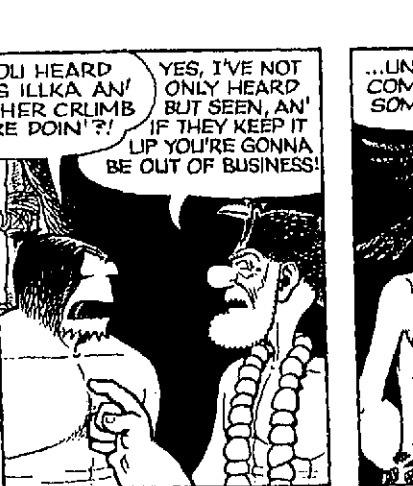

Jim: "South will probably start by winning the spade and running off four diamond tricks. West will let a couple of hearts go and East will probably discard a spade. Then if South knocks out the ace of hearts it will be up to East to lead his queen of spades. Otherwise South will be able to throw him back in the lead to force him to lead from his queen of clubs."

Oswald: "A really alert East will discard his ten of spades on that fourth diamond. Otherwise if South chooses to try a spade throw-in play and leads his six of spades West is very likely to play the nine whereupon East will be stuck in with that ten spot."

Jim: "Of course West could prevent that by rising with his jack but West won't be sure where that ten spot is, as long as East has forgotten to get rid of it."

Tech School Discussed Bill to Slap

Penalty on Un-Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities gave unanimous approval today to administration-opposed legislation to slap stiff criminal penalties on the activities of some anti-Viet Nam war groups.

In less than an hour, the full committee ratified the amended bill approved Tuesday by the subcommittee which conducted four tumultuous days of investigation into the groups, which contend that the United States is guilty of aggression in Viet Nam.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., said the bill will be brought promptly before the House.

Overwhelming House passage of the controversial bill is expected, but it may face death in the Senate where the Democratic and Republican leaderships are less than enthusiastic about it.

A subcommittee approved the measure unanimously Tuesday. Earlier, Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark had said the bill is unnecessary and might infringe on constitutional rights.

The committee is rushing to complete work on the measure before Acting Chairman Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., the chief sponsor of the bill, leaves Thursday for an inspection trip to Viet Nam.

The subcommittee took heed of some of the constitutional objections to the bill by deleting prohibitions on advising, counseling or urging others to give aid to enemies of the United States and to block the shipment of U.S. troops and materials.

But it left in the ban on soliciting, which Clark said might also infringe constitutional rights.

The subcommittee also reduced the penalties for obstructing troop movements to a maximum $10,000 fine and five years in prison. It left the penalties for sending aid to the nation's enemies at a maximum $20,000 fine and 20 years in prison.

The bill is aimed primarily at groups which have solicited aid and blood for the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and which have tried to block U.S. troops trains even though Clark testified: "There has been no successful behavior of the sort to be prohibited by this bill."

The Justice Department official was asked at the conclusion of his testimony by Rep. John H. Buchanan, R-Ala., if the government will enforce the bill if it is passed by Congress.

"We'll enforce any law passed by Congress," he replied.

Groundbreaking at Housing Site Thursday

Mike Kelly, Chairman of the Housing Authority of the City of Hope, Arkansas, has announced that there will be a Groundbreaking Ceremony at 3:30 p.m., Thursday, August 25, on Site "A" of the Low Rent Housing Project which is located just North of the Fair Park on the West Side of Mockingbird Lane.

City officials, Commissioners of the Housing Authority and the General Contractor, Jack Bracy, of North Little Rock will participate in the ceremonies. All interested citizens are invited.

Bearden Man Dies in Wreck

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Alonzo Martin, 44, of Bearden, was killed Tuesday night when the car in which he was riding was struck by another car 4½ miles east of Camden on Arkansas 4.

The car, also carrying Martin's 47-year-old brother, James Martin, collided with one driven by Thomas Moore, 20, of El Dorado, State Trooper John Strickland said. The car Moore was driving skidded 256 feet before impact, said Strickland.

Lloyd Greer, 19, of El Dorado and Carol Landis, 24, of Camden were passengers in Moore's car. Moore, Greer, and Landis were admitted to the Quachita Hospital in Camden. They were not seriously hurt, Strickland said.

Man Trapped in Plane Succumbs

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — John T. Emmanuel, trapped six days in the wreckage of a small plane, died today in Hartford Hospital.

Emmanuel, who was rescued Sunday from the slopes of Mt. High in nearby Middletown, was transferred Tuesday to Hartford Hospital from Meriden Hospital.

Dr. Eugene Sillman said Tuesday night that Emmanuel, 39, of Hartford, was suffering from "a total state of fatigue to mid and body."

The crash Aug. 15 of the single-engine Cessna killed the pilot, Richard C. Grimaldi, 32, of Newington.

They had left Block Island, R.I., and were scheduled to land in Hartford several hours later.

The plane hit the rock face of Mt. High and plunged into dense foliage at the bottom of the cliff.

Emmanuel was pinned in the wreckage. The plane was not visible to searching Civil Air Patrol pilots.

Whites Rock Marchers Red Training in Chicago; King Is Still Going to Cicero Plane Crash Fatal to Family of 6

CHICAGO (AP) — A force of 200 civil rights demonstrators dodged bricks and bottles Tuesday night in a Southeast Side neighborhood, then attended a rally where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., repeated his intention to march to Cicero Sunday.

The open-house demonstration in the city's South Deering area was witnessed by 1,500 shouting, angry white persons who stood along the tree-lined residential streets and threatened the comparatively small parade.

King, who led 500 persons into the area Sunday, was not in Tuesday night's demonstration.

Leaders of the Chicago Freedom Movement announced a march would be held today in the West Elston area, an all-white neighborhood adjacent to Gage Park on the Southwest Side where some of the most violent white reaction to the demonstrations has occurred this summer.

A force of 450 blue-helmeted police formed a cordon around the demonstrators and effectively kept violent action in check in South Deering. Sixteen persons were arrested. Most of the offenders were caught firing stones, firecrackers and bottles at the marchers.

One policeman was felled by a brick and was treated at a hospital.

The prevailing placards — "White Power," "White Trash," "The Zoo Wants You" — were held in the air by residents of the all-white community.

After the march, the Rev. Jesse Jackson told newsmen, "You ask me if (the march) was successful. You don't get successful marches on the basis of how many people yelled or threw things at you. When we can go to any real estate office in Chicago and find an apartment or buy a house, that's what I call success."

King spoke to a student rally of 400 persons at a Southwest Side church shortly after the South Deering march.

"Not only are we going to walk in Cicero," King shouted, "We're going to work in Cicero and we're going to live in Cicero."

Christy S. Berkos, town attorney of Cicero, which hugs Chicago's western border, sent telegrams Tuesday to Gov. Otto Kerner, King and Albert A. Raby, convenor of the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations.

Red Training Camp Hit, 211 Killed

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines fought their way into a Communist troop training camp 20 miles southwest of Da Nang today while others, farther north, battled a force of North Vietnamese regulars. The Americans were reported to have killed 211 of the enemy. Their own casualties were termed light.

Several hundred Leathernecks attacked the training camp, where guerrillas and North Vietnamese army men mingled. A spokesman estimated the enemy totaled about a battalion perhaps 600 men — and said the Communist fire was extremely heavy.

A radio report from Lt. Col. Victor Ohanesian of New York City said his men burned 10 buildings and destroyed a large store of rice at the camp. A large cave and tunnel complex was uncovered.

The Marines counted 44 Communist dead.

The other action developed in a hunt for Communists along infiltration routes south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam. Marines fought a heavy 12-hour battle with North Vietnamese troops overnight.

U.S. spokesmen said 17 of the enemy died in this fight and about 150 others were killed from a detachment of 250 spotted pulling away from the combat area this morning.

Company-sized elements of the 4th Marine Regiment met late Tuesday with Communists well entrenched in fortifications and caves in the hills of the Cam Lo River valley, 18 miles west of Dong Ha and five miles south of the demilitarized zone.

The engagement was described as heavy until about dawn today, and then tapered off to light and moderate.

The Marine reconnaissance in force was quickly reinforced with aircraft, artillery and a reaction force of ground troops, casualties were light. He said 17 Communists were reported killed and two others captured.

In another ground action, a U.S. paratrooper brigade engaged in an intensive search for the Viet Cong for two weeks east of Saigon was airlifted in a lightning maneuver into the jungles southeast of the city Tuesday the U.S. military command reported today.

The 173rd Airborne Brigade was flown in helicopters into Phuoc Tuy Province after U.S. Marines and Australian forces found evidence of the Viet Cong 5th Division.

Although no direct contact had been made with the enemy, documents, diaries and hot rice and other food left in disarray in jungle lairs indicated the Viet Cong were somewhere nearby, a spokesman said.

In the air war over North Viet Nam, bad weather forced Air Force and Navy planes to keep they hammered communications and storage facilities. Eighty-six missions were flown. Navy A4 Skyhawks pounded on four North Vietnamese torpedo boats discovered hidden among islands in the Tonkin Gulf and sank one, possibly sank a second and badly damaged a third.

Carrier-based Skyhawks also reported sighting three MIGs during their forays, but the MIGs did not venture close enough for a fight.

The Saigon River channel between the capital city and the South China Sea, where an American freighter laden with war supplies was sunk by a Communist mine Tuesday, was reopened to traffic today.

The ship, the Baton Rouge Victory, rested on the bottom with water up to its maindeck as salvage experts examined the damage to determine whether to unload the cargo or refloat the vessel and tow it to Saigon for unloading.

Air force pilots flying F104 Starfighters and F105 Thunderchiefs bombed a petroleum dump 26 miles up the coastline from Hanoi. Pilots reported 75 per cent of the area was engulfed in flames after the attack and heavy black smoke was rising 2,000 feet above the targets.

Army Plans to Train Poorly Educated and Physically Deficient

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed forces will embark in October on a special training effort designed to keep in service many poorly educated or physically deficient military dropouts.

The Pentagon provided this starting date and listed the training bases for the program Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara envisioned Tuesday as an aid to the services as well as a benefit to American society.

Men ordinarily disqualified for military service will undergo what the Pentagon described as "supplementary or intensified training" to bring them up to minimum standards.

This schooling will take place at regular military training centers around the country.

But exactly which individuals will be affected and what kind and periods of training they will undergo before being accepted or rejected for a full military tour were not fully spelled out by the defense chief.

McNamara offered no clues when he mentioned the program as a military-social mission in a speech to Veterans of Foreign Wars in New York.

He said 40,000 young men would receive the "supplementary" training this fiscal year and 100,000 annually thereafter.

The defense chief said it is hoped up to 85 per cent of the trainees would then be retained for military duty. McNamara said the program would not affect the present draft standards.

Pentagon sources said the trainees would be sworn into the armed services, just as draftees and enlistees are. Those trainees unable to meet the armed services standards after the training period would be given an honorable discharge as unqualified, it was explained.

The sources also said that the new program would have no substantial impact on draft quotas. "This merely will provide us a bit bigger pool of qualified manpower for the military," one spokesman said.

The Pentagon said the program will be conducted at these bases:

Army — Ft. Dix, N.J.; Ft. Jackson, S.C.; Ft. Knox, Ky.; Ft. Gordon, Ga.; Ft. Polk, La.; Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.; Ft. Ord, Calif.; Ft. Benning, Ga.; Ft. Bliss, Tex.; Ft. Lewis, Wash.; Ft. Bragg, N.C.; Ft.

Students And The Future

With colleges and universities getting the new school year underway, parents and their sons and daughters would do well to sit down and go over a few hard facts. To begin with, sending a child to college has become downright expensive. Probably the average cost in South Carolina institutions will run close to $2,000 for nine months. That figures out roughly $7.50 per day. Except for a fortunate few families, this will constitute a strain on the family finances. Most of our colleges and universities have about all the students they can handle. Under conditions like this, only the students who work hard and diligently are likely to find that the institutions have room for them. The youths who succumb to too many diversions will last about two semesters. Perhaps most important of all, parents and students should note that failure to take full advantage of educational opportunities today will close more doors to a successful future than ever before in history. If the whole family realizes the present and future costs, much disappointment and anguish can be avoided. — Columbia (S.C.) State

How ABOUT YOU?

Are YOU as physically fit as you were 10 years ago? Americans overall are more so, believe it or not. We are scooping President Johnson today to announce it. We've seen a preliminary report of the President's Council on Physical Fitness so we needn't wait for LBJ to go on TV in October to tell us about it.

We can thank three Presidents for this improvement, and all of them were ailing. President Eisenhower, a heart attack victim, established the President's Council on Youth Fitness. President Kennedy, who had a back injury, carried it forward with Bud Wilkinson, the popular Oklahoma football coach as director. President Johnson, like Eisenhower a heart patient, expanded the program to serve all ages and changed the name. He also chose Stan Musial, the baseball star, to replace Wilkinson. The results have been rather dramatic. Since 1961 there has been a 58-per cent increase in the number of schools offering physical education programs; 68 per cent of the schools that already conducted programs increased or strengthened them; and 17 states raised their school physical education requirements. But, we persist, how about YOU? — Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune
